TWIN NUPTIALS IN PRETTY CEREMONIES

A double wedding in a beautiful floral setting at the home of J. A. Lindholm was performed yesterday afternoon by Rev. W. E. Van Dyke, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Mary Nord, of Buffalo, was married to Edwin Lidholm, of this place, and Miss Nellie Larson became the bride of Fred Herriman. The latter are also residents of Smethport. Mr. Herriman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Herriman; Miss Larson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Larson, and Mr. Lindholm is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindholm.

The couples acted as attendants to each other.

Miss Nord wore a dark blue taffeta dress and carried roses. Miss Larson wore a light blue taffeta dress and also carried roses.

The ceremony took place before a floral alter banked by hundreds of flowers and ferns. Immediate relatives and friends of the four principals attended.

Following the service a luncheon was served. The house and table were prettily decorated in pink and white.

After a short wedding trip in the country, both couples will reside in Smethport.

"Eddie" Lindholm is one of the most popular young men of Smethport ad has a host of frends. He will continue to aid his father in the management of the grocery store.

Mr. Herriman is working here as a mason.

Miss Larson is employed in the office of William N. Farnham, while Miss Nord held a position in the New York Central offices in Buffalo.

The Miner extends best wishes.

BOUND AND GAGGED THE LEADER OF ENEMY GANG.

Alleged to have bound and gagged another boy in an effort to retaliate for several threshings he had received, Marcus Mustay, 15 years old, a junior in Bradford High School, was bound over to the juvenile court and brought here yesterday by Detective Jack Allison.

He will be held at the jail pending trial.

The charge against the youth is that of felonious assault. He stated to the detective that the boy he is alleged to have attacked, and others, had been beating him (Mustay) on occasions. Therefore, he laid in wait for the ringleader, bound him, and when he began to call for help, stuffed a handkerchief in his mouth. Then he made him promise he would discontinue the gang attacks.

The other lad suffered minor injuries during the procedure.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Sunday, July 31, morning worship 10:30; subject of sermon: "The Father of Jesus." There will be a baptismal service after the preaching. Sunday school, 11:45. The public school cannot teach religon, the home increasingly does not, the Sunday school, with its necessary limitations, cannot fully meet the need, but rather than neglect the religous training of your child entirely, send it for what the school has to offer. We are in danger of becoming a nation of religous illiterates. Statstics show that two thirds of all American children receive no sigificant religious instruction.

MRS. MORRISON GIVES BOOKS TO LIBRARY

The Hamlin School Library has received a splendid gift from Mrs. Helen G. Morrison of about four hundred volumes from her library. Of these about one hundred and fifty are fiction and the rest are valuable books for reference. These are mostly historical and deal with the Civil War and Pennsylvania history.

The gift is greatly appreciated by those in charge of the library, and it is hoped that others of our citizens will make like gifts.

WORST STORM OF THE YEAR

The worst storm of the year swept over town on Monday afternoon, accompanied by terrific winds, hail and a regular cloudburst.

It seemed as though two storms one from the east and the other from the west met at this point, and locked horns in a struggle which served to do quite a bit of damage, athough nothing of a serious nature.

A number of large trees were twisted and broken as though by the hand of a giant, all loose household articles went flying before the onslaught of the wind and vegetables and grain in garden and field were laid low.

The hail was as large as peas, and this caused many a window pane to break.

The blast struck with greatest force over East Main street. Trees were snapped off in front of the homes of A. J. Hyatt, E. T. Daly, C. K. Gregory, in front of the Swedish Church and Baptist Church, and another in the rear of A. E. Quirk's on Green street.

The wind left the pavements downtown strewn with debris, sewers were choked, and water flooded the sidewalks in some places.

LIVE ONES OR HOME BREW

The berry pickers of this year report seeing an unusually large number of sakes in the fields and woods throughout the county.

Sounds sort of suspicious, doesn't it?

A fellow has to be very careful these days when telling about the snakes he chased or was chased by, particularly anyone after berries from which so many brands of home-brew are made.

McKean county holds a reputation of being comparatively free from snakes, but judging from the berry-pickers' experiences it is either losing that reputaton or its citizens are losing their record of sobriety(?).

Maybe it is high time for the war on bootleggers and whisky stills. After it is over, and the source of the insistent flow of "white mule" and the like runs dry, maybe there will be fewer snakes seen hereabouts.

DOCTOR STRAINS BACK WHILE LIFTING TUB.

While lifting a heavy tub of water at his home last week, Dr. Robert Hamilton wrenched his back. The injury caused considerable pain.

The physician is sporting an old-fashioned plaster.

NEW ARCHBISHOP OF BALTIMORE HAS HAD A BRILLIANT CAREER

Baltimore, July 27.—Brief announcement from Rome that the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Curley, of St. Augustine, Fla., had been appointed by Pope Benedict XV to succeed the late James Cardinal Gibbons as archbishop of Baltimore, occasioned little surprise here today and the appointment was greeted with general satisfaction.

TWO HOT BASEBALL GAMES; 11-INNING CONTEST TO LOCALS

Two of the most hotly contested baseball games of the season, one between Smethport and East Smethport—that's sufficient isn't it—and the other an eleven inning pitching duel between Smethport and Rixford furnished interesting entertainment for local fans last week.

Smethport won both contest.

The Rixford game was the deciding one of a series between the clubs. The score was 2 to 1 in the eleventh after Coach Tull made a hero of himself by a double, scoring Louie Hull.

A large crowd, including a good representation from Rixford attended the game and intense excitement prevailed throughout.

Smethport, 2; Rixford 1.

Rixford, that village that produces "true sportsmen," now realizes its baseball master after the hot game last Sunday, which ended so disastrously for the visitors after a pitching duel of eleven innings between Summers for Smethport and Haines for Rixford.

Rixford, by a lucky pair of hits and a rotten umpire's decision on the part of a visiting arbitrator, who was immediately chased, got one run across in the second, while Smethport tied in the third. From then on the two pitchers tried to see how many batters they could strike out, Summers seemed to get stronger all the time. The ninth inning passed with the fans tense and thrilled with the prospect of a long, extra-inning battle. In the tenth Rixford got a man around to third, but Summers came through and pitched like a demon, obliterating the visitors' chances.

The end came when Louie Hull cut loose with a slashing hit and got around to second. Coach Tull came to the bat with fire in his eye, smarting under the remembrance of Rixford's "sportsmenlike" actions. Therefore, he swung on one of Haines' speedy ones and the pill sailed over the rightfielder's head, scoring Hull. On a wild return to home plate Tull scored, but the run did not count.

Smethport, 8; East Smethport, 4.

A rivalry of deep-seaed nature and long-standing was fought with locked horns last Wednesday evening when the Smethport ball team beat the East Smethport club by the score of 8 to 4. As stated in the Miner last week, it was a hard fought battle all the way—in more ways than one.

Both sides claim unfair treatment on the part of umpries, and wranglings were frequent. But after the smoke had cleared away and the dust had settled into its customary peaceful state, the nine from Main street was jubilant, but pretty well used up by the effort it cost them.

Anyhow the fans got their money's worth, and the new uniforms for the band neared realization.

Tommy Clark and Nagle served them up for the Smethport side, while East Smethport's twirlers were N. Walker and L. Walker.

Needless to say that it will likely be a long time until another game of such intensity of feeling will be played on the local field unless, of course, these two rivals meet soon again.

CHIEF BURDETTE RESPLENDENT IN HIS NEW CAP AND UNIFORM

The local police department—that is, meaning Chief Burdette—bloomed into resplendency last week by doffing up right nifty, indeed.—

A dark blue uniform and a flowing yachting cap of white canvas gives the chief an appearance akin to a movie interpretation of a sea captain. Oh, yes, we almost forgot, there is a gorgeous red stripe running north and south along the seam of those customary appendages to trousers, vulgarly known as legs.

If you haven't noticed the new sceery, what kind of a citizen are you anyway?

To be frank with you, there are a number of vagrant rumors going around about the new c'stume, but we'll let you in on that later.

Little did Chief Burdette reck that when he sallied forth with his uniform on that evening of evenings that the event would be an epoch of local history.

Well, he got as far as the Wright House on his way up town to his post of duty without being challenged. But there the bloods from down town gave an insiduous chuckle at the sight of the chief's yachting cap, and the police department knew that the battle to maintain the dignity of its new headgear had commenced in earnest.

At Heath's poolroom and Munn's store, a little further on, some more of East Main street's talent grew bold enough to inquire of each other as to the possible source of the officer's headgear, and glad rags. As he continued west, excitement grew in volume, and a youthful admirer, or so followed the chief respectfully.

Then, knowing that the critical moment had come when he must face the long line which nightly scatters from Hamlin Bank to the Corner Drug Store on the south side of Main street, Chief Burdette took his stand on the opposite side so that all might see at once. There, with his police badge gleaming in the feeble gas lights that were striving to pierce the gathering dusk, the GOSH!. DON'T IT MAKE YOU SORE?

The telephone operators of the local exchange have begun forcing the public to call by numbers only. Heretofore one might ask for Mr. So-and-So's home.

But now, ye gods!

It is remarkable what a hit this innovation is NOT making with the patrons of the service. However, the people will likely soon become accustomed to the practice, and the operators deft in handling numbers.

GRANGE PICNIC AT CORYVILLE

The Farmers Grange picnic will be held at Coryville on Tuesday, August 16, according to an announcement by Paul S. Cossman, of the Farm Bureau.

The picnic grounds at that place is a well known beauty spot in this vicinity. Farmers from near there have been busy cleaning up the rubbish and erecting stands for the amusements.

The Farm Bureau, the Grange and the Dairyman's League, under whose auspices the picnic takes place, are making extensive plans for the event. Two games of baseball, plenty of music, and a number of other attractions will furnish entertainment.

W. F. Hill, of Chambersburg, Pa., will make the address of the day. He is one of the past masters of the Grange, and is a forceful speaker upon topics pertinent to events of this kind.

ROAD WORK SPEEDING UP

Smethport is agog with road talk and busy employes working on the two highways being laid near here.

Unusual activity has been noted, indicating an increase in the number of men on the jobs. Trucks have busy carrying materials and men, and everything points to additional effort on the part of the contractors.

With the Rew City section being done by Warren & Moore, nearing completion with but about 12,000 feet of road to be laid, it looks as though this will be completed by at least September 1. Then will open an improved and direct highway to Bradford, with but 30 or 40 minutes ride by auto separating the two cities.

About 1,500 feet of concrete is already done on the Marvin Creek job, being done by Frank L. Cohen, Inc. Grading work is going ahead with good speed.

William H. Patten of Bradford, but now living here and John Busick, an Italian received injuries last week while working on this section. Patton was hurt when a truck driver started his machine before Patton could get out of the way, and he was struck and thrown to the ground

He suffered contusions about the face and a fractured shoulder bone. Busick dropped a piece of pipe on his foot.

The few accidents that have occurred on the jobs is noticeable.

COL. ALLEN IN SMETHPORT

Olean, July 27.—Colonel Dan B. Allen, who practiced law in Olean before the war, stopped in Olean on his way home from Smethport yesterday and renewed some early friendships.

Colonel Allen organized a company of infantry in 1862, and was mustered into service as Captain of Company B, 154th Infantry, September 25, 1862, he was commissioned major, and in June, 1863 received his commission as lieutenant colonel.

REV. VAN DYKE TO BURY HIS HEROIC COUSIN

The body of Sergeant Charles Van Dyke, cousin of Rev. W. E. Van Dyke of this place, will be buried on Friday from Christ Church in Oil City. Rev. Van Dyke will perform the services.

Paul Denning, of Smethport, was one of the soldiers who helped carry the sergeant off the battlefield after he had fallen, mortally wounded in an advance in the Argonne sector. The two soldiers were members of the Twenty-eighth infantry.

In relating the facts concerning the death of Sergeant Van Dyke, Paul Denning, who was also a sergeant and was leading the platoon back of Sergeant Van Dyke's, said:

"The attack on hill No. 223 at Chattel-Chehery began at daybreak on October 7, 1918. We had passed through the town, and were ascending the slope in the face of a terrific fire. Colonel Shannon, a regular army man, was leading the regiment and he fell, wounded through the neck. Sergeant Van Dyke dropped, shot through the abdomen. A captain and a score of others fell, also. About 9 o'clock we had taken the hill and stopped to take care of our wounded.

"I kept the colonel alive for about three hours, and talked to Sergeant Van Dyke, bound up his wound, and moistened his lips with water. Finally he was taken away on a litter and died in a hospital."

Ingram Van Dyke, brother of the soldier to be buried, was killed, but his body was not identified among the fallen.

Notification of the arrival of Charles' body at Hoboken a few days ago came to the parents.

COUNTY WOMEN PLANNING THEIR FALL CAMPAIGN

The various women's political organizations throughout the country are shaping their plans for the fall campaign, according to the heads of various bodies.

Owing to the large local ticket this year, everything possible is being done to stir up an active interest in politics among the women voters, and it looks as though this effort will bear fruit.

Although many women who did not register as yet will lose their vote in the primaries this year, it is likely that the number of female voters will represent the total number who have a desire to cast their ballots.

The possible nomination of women candidates for various local offices this fall will no doubt tend to arouse many of such women from their political lethargy, and stimulate them along these lines so that they will not allow another chance to have a voice in local government slip by.

U. S. MAKES THREAT TO RUSSIA

Washington, July 27.—The United States has made demands upon Soviet Russia for the immediate release of American citizens who are now held in prisons in Russia, it was stated at the state department today.

A note of this government voicing these demands has been dispatched to the American consul agent at Reval to be handed to the Soviet representative there for communication to his government.

This is understood to be the first direct demand made upon Soviet Russia by this government for releasing Americans, previous overtures having been carried on through neutral agencies. The communication is understood to contain stern warning to Russia that Soviet authorities cannot hope for any American aid for the people of Russia reported suffering from starvation and disbeing held in prison under Sovet orders. There are now eight Americans in Russian jails and about 100 more are being detained by Soviet authorities although they are not actually imprisoned.

CORYVILLE ITEMS.

Coryville, July 21.—Haying is nearly all finished in this vicinity. Oat harvest is the next job on the docket. Grain of all kinds promises a good yield, but has gone down some during the heavy wind and rain of last week.

Joe Reed has the contract for cutting all the hay on the Bush farm.

Don't forget, Grange picnic will be at Coryville this year. We have one of the best picnic grounds that can be found anywhere near.

George Gill's horse became frightened at the Coryville factory and ran away, breaking the reins and throwing Mr. Gill to the ground, breaking his collar bone, cutting off the end of one finger and otherwise bruising him up quite badly. The horse jumped into the cove near the store and bogged down in the mud. It required the combined efforts of a team and several men to extricate it.

FRANCE BULWARK OF EUROPE.

Country Stands Alone Against a Still Menacing Germany, According to Writer in Outlook.

I wish I could write cheerfully of Europe. I have spent nearly three months digging under the surface 16 hours a day in England, France, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Austria and Hungary, uncovering the cost of living, wages, taxes, governmental expenditures, incomes, debts and gold reserves; and I have noted the agricultural equipment and activity, the political sanity and otherwise, the honesty of peoples and their intelligence. And I am coming home to America with a heavy heart.

I criticize every country in Europe as I do my own beloved land. I excuse only France, W. C. Gregg writes in the Outlook.

From the first gun in 1914 to the present moment France has been the object of attack by the central powers. Anti-French intrigue is as active today as ever. Each move, each hope of the central powers hangs on crippling France. France bears the brunt of guaranteeing European order, and is recompensed by a world of suspicion of hatred. She does not deserve criticism from her former associates; she does need their advice and their firm support in her plan to settle the war.

What would happen if France were to economize by disbanding the bulk of her army? Germany would change her tone immediately. Not one mark more would she pay and her own army would rapidly take form. In one year she would again be the principal military power of Europe, with greater resources than any two other nations. There would then be no doubt as to who won the war.

Oh, Wily Man!

"I don't know whether I like these photos or not," said the young woman; "they seem rather indistinct." "But you must remember, madam, that your face is not at all plain."

100 P. C. OF OIL NOW TAKEN

Bradford, July 23.—Producers of this section, selling oil to the Tide-Water Pipe Company, Ltd., are looking forward to increased activity in the local oil fields as a result of an announcement by the company that, now 100 per cent of all oil produced would be allowed to run into lines.

With the restrictions under which the Tide-Water producers have been operating removed, the end of the depression in the oil business seems in sight. With a steady market in view for all the oil they can produce, the producers have some incentive to increase the productiveness of their holdings.

Not only is it the general belief that drilling of new wells will be resumed immediately, but some of the most optimistic of local oil men are inclined to believe that the price of Pennsylvania crude will be advanced shortly.

On account of a lack of storage capacity in the refineries at Bayonne, N. J., the Tide-Water Pipe Company was obliged to post a notice June 9 to the effect that it could handle only two-thirds of the average production run into its lines. On July 12 the limit was raised to four-fifths, or eighty per cent of average production and yesterday all restrictions were removed and leases can now be operated at 100 per cent production.

TIRED OF LIFE FOREIGN GIRL TRIES TO DIE

Bradford, July 23.—Recovering in the Mountain Clinic from an attempt to commit suicide by drowning in the Olean creek, a young woman, a foreigner, refused to tell her name or her home town. She admitted she wanted to die.

Fully dressed, she was sinking in the creek waters when Mr. Killer, of Boardmanville, saw her. He noticed that she was making no attempt to save herself or attract attention, and he leaped into the stream and pulled her from the water.

The police were summoned, and the girl was taken to the institution. She had been in this city only a few days, it was learned, and was living in a room in the Ross building in North Union street, just north of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

The young woman is good looking, about 23 years old, and was well dressed, it was reported. She will live.

HELD UP BY ROBBERS ON ROAD NEAR CLARENDON.

Warren, July 21.—Frank Barney, employed at the Warren garage, had an exciting experience just east of Clarendon Wednesday evening, shortly before 10 o'clock, in which he narrowly escaped becoming the victim of three holdup men. Barney was driving with his wife and son, and his sister, Mrs. Mabel Pavey, of Jackson, Mich., and was coming toward Warren.

East of Clarendon he saw an automobile tire in the road and stopped his car and walked back to pick it up when three young men stepped out of a clump of bushes at the roadside and demanded his money.

Barney started to give battle to the trio, when a car was seen approaching from the east and as its lights were thrown on the scene the trio ran, one of them dragging the tire. By the time the car from the east approached the men had made good their escape. A Hudson car coming from the west also reached the scene about the same time. It had two occupants and they claimed to have been relieved of $14 by the trio of bandits, after which they had driven toward Clarendon, turned around and came back in an endeavor to capture the thieves.

RIDGWAY MAN ARRESTED CHARGED WITH STEALING CAR

Ridgway, July 21.—A young man named Norman Weidert, claiming Warren as his residence, was taken into custody Wednesday by Chief of Police D. R. Lobaugh. The youth was wanted by Warren authorities who sent word out about a week ago that he had stolen a car from that place.

Weidert came into the Ridgway Garage yesterday afternoon and asked to look at some second hand cars. He finally found one that suited him and asked the salesman if he would take a second-hand Ford on a trade-in. He said that the car was stalled along North Broad street.

At the garage it was discovered that the car bore the same engine number as the one which was stolen from Warren and the police here were notified. Today when Weidert returned for his repaired car he was arrested by Chief Lobaugh and taken to the county jail.

MAN ACCUSED OF MURDER TAKEN TO LITTLE VALLEY

Bradford, July 22.—At police headquarters last night, it was stated unofficially that Patsy Musolino, who was arrested Wednesday in this city on a warrant from Little Valley charging him with thee murder of Ralph Satura of Niagara Falls, whose body was found lying in a field near Salamanca last year, would be taken to Cattaraugus today and that his attorneys' Wilson and Fitzgibbon, would institute habeas corpus proceedings in an attempt to have the prisoner released.

While this information has not been confirmed, the report probably is founded on fact. Neither of the prisoner's attorneys could be reached last night.

Musolino spent yesterday and last night in the city jail. He talked very little to police officials and was visited during the day by his wife and two of his children.

The precautions taken by the police Wednesday night against any possible emergency which might arise, proved unnecessary as no demonstration of any kind was attempted by those interested in the prisoner.

WIFE SOME KNIFE THROWER HITS "CRUEL" HUSBAND.

Warren, July 22.—Fred LaPere, of Kinzua, was brought to the Warren General Hospital Tuesday night suffering from a stab wound in the right leg, inflicted when he was struck with a butcher knife thrown by his wife. LaPere had secured a quantity of moonshine and had gone and started abusing his wife, when she turned on him and threw a butcher knife at him.

The big artery in his leg was cut and he lost a large quantity of blood. He was treated by Dr. Flatt, who brought the man to Warren in his automobile and took him to the hospital. The man is resting well today and will doubtless recover.

OLEAN GOLFER IS OUT-PLAYED IN TOURNEY.

Chevy Chase, Md., July 20.—Dan Kenny, the Bemus Point and Olean pro, who won the second tourney of the W. N. Y. P. G. A. at Rochester, missed in the qualifier by four strokes, scoring an 82 in the greatest United States golf meet of the year.

Dan Kenny's downfall is a history of just three poorly played holes, while a big element of bad luck attached to their playing. The rest of Dan's golf was as good as any of the big fellows produced, for his card contained pars and birdies sufficient to put him well into the qualifier, had two sevens and a six not taken all the poetry out of Dan's short life over the electric eighteen-hole route.

FIVE KANE GIRLS NEARLY DROWN; CAPSIZED

Kane, July 20.—Five Kane girls, Bessie Miller, Lillian Miller, Esther Anedrson, Angela Beatty and Katherine Geary, members of a camping party from this city occupying the Great cottage at Big Bend on the Allegany river between Kinzua and Warren, were precipitated into the river Monday afternoon, when the boat in which they were crossing the stream was overturned.

The water in front of the Great cottage is 30 feet deep and the campers used a boat to row to the other side of the river to a shallow bathing place.

None of the girls could swim and their plight would have been a desperate one, but for the fact that aid was close at hand. Occupants of other cottages along the river were quick to rush to the aid of the struggling girls and it was not long before all were on shore.

BRADFORD AVIATORS WILL DO STUNTS OVER CITY.

Bradford, July 25.—An aerial field day for the entertainment of the people of Bradford will be conducted next Wednesday afternoon by Lieut. Harris Emery, Bradford's accomplished and daring aviator, assisted by Young Sparks.

This is the first attraction of this nature ever held in Bradford and the entire program will be devoted to stunts in the air. The exhibition is to be entirely free to the public and will include parachute dropping, wing walking and other similarly hazardous stunts. Sparks, who is also a local flyer, will perform the parachute drop and wing-walking, while Lieutenant Emery is scheduled to perform a series of stunts with his plane.

The field day will be held at the Emery aviation field on the West Washington highway, and special accommodations have been provided on the field for the parking of automobiles. The field itself has been widened and placed in excellent shape. It is probable that two other machines will also participate in the events.

ACID THROWN DOWN THROAT KILLS BEAUTIFUL WOMAN.

Buffalo, July 22.—One of the most unusual murders in the annals of the local police, occurred here when John Verosky, 27 years old, in a fit of jealous rage, according to the police, tossed the contents of two one-half pint bottles filled with a solution of carbolic and muriatic acid into his estranged wife's face while she was at work in the beauty parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Thompson, at 242 Franklin street.

Mrs. Barbara Verosky, 23 years old, the wife, died at the Emergency Hospital last evening. Medical Examiner Denser said death had undoubtedly been caused by some of the poison which had been thrown into her mouth. Her face was horribly disfigured.

Verosky, whose home is at 101 East Cliff street, East Pittsburgh, Pa., almost made his escape. He was captured by Patrolman Thomas R. Eggleston of the traffic squad while riding on an automobile truck at Delaware avenue and West Chippown street. By direction of Dr. Danser and Detective Captain Edward J. Newton, he was charged with murder, first degree. The young woman made her home with her parents at 438 Sherman street. Police learned that the couple had been married in January and separated last April.

BOY ESCAPES SEVERE INJURY BY COLLISION.

Bradford, July 23.—An unfortunate accident occurred at 6 o'clock last evening at South Bradford, when little Harold Stromberg, aged three years, who lives at South Bradford, ran in front of the Burdick touring car and was knocked down.

The car, in which Mrs. W. E. Burdick and several other ladies were riding, was going towards Lewis Run at the time the accident occurred and the lad was evidently playing in or near a car which stood in front of his home. He evidently did not see the approaching car on account of the standing machine and stepped right into the path of the oncoming automobile. The driver, Victor Husted, with all speed, swerved the car to one side or the child would undoubtedly have been crushed. As it was the boy escaped with being struck by the fender. He was rendered unconscious.

60-YEAR-OLD WIFE GONE, HUSBAND SERIOUSLY ILL.

Olean, July 23.—John Thompson, 65, of South Ninth street, is ill in the police station, apparently of some poison. Police took him from his front porch, neighbors complaining that he was rolling and groaning there.

Police said they learned that his wife, 60 years old, had run away with another man, a boarder in their home.

Thompson will live.

HAS TIRE FIFTEEN MINUTES THIEF GETS IT IN THREE.

Olean, July 21.—Speedy work featured the stealing of an automobile tire from the machine of B. C. Millard, of 413 West State street. The tire was stolen off a rear wheel in the three minutes Mr. Millard was in the office of Dr. J. E. K. Morris, in Laurens street.

It had been bought 15 minutes before.

Marmons of the 1922 Series Now Being Delivered

Just as it led in revision of prices, now Nordyke & Marmon Company leads in announcing a definite policy as to models

"1922 Prices Now!" This sensational announcement of May 2nd heralded the general revision of prices throughout the automobile industry.

It meant, because this Company anticipated the future and the lowered costs of production, that the Marmon 34 could be priced at $3985, a reduction of over 20%.

Now comes this equally important announcement: purchasers of the Marmon 34 need not fear any change of model. We are delivering now the 1922 series of the Marmon 34.

Because of Stabilized Design, the Marmon 34 does not undergo radical changes. But several refinements and betterments are included in the 1922 series.

With $3985 buying a Marmon 34 of the 1922 series, two vital questions are answered. There need be no hesitancy now, so far as the Marmon 34 is concerned.

This car now commands first consideration—no man can afford to make a decision until he knows the Marmon 34 and all that it offers.

Call or telephone for a demonstration—NOW.

HENRY FORD—THE FOX.

The story of Henry Ford's methods of overcoming the business depression of recent months, and of the way he made it possible for his plant to be rushed at the present time with large orders, is interesting.

Henry might turn out flivvers, but his brain is a high-powered de luxe affair, of which his country needs more.

Taking all his raw materials on hand and making it up without buying more, buying a railroad, and reducing transportation costs without cutting wages, forcing his dealers to buy cars, and then crowning the whole by leading the country in reducing prices on his cars, the manufacturer turned a trick that stumped Wall treet, and made Fords more popular than ever, perhaps.

Henry, you're "there."

THE PERSISTENT BRITISH.

Secretary Mellon of the Treasury has given definite assurances to the senate finance committee that the administration has no intention of recommending the cancellation of foreign loans. He disclosed that the very interesting suggestion that the debts of the Allies to each other be wiped out, has been made to the United States twice by the British government.

The British remind us of the man who said that he had just missed owning the New York Central railroad.

"How is that?" asked his friend.

"I asked Mr. Vanderbilt if he would give it to me."—Olean Times.

LASKER—A FIGHTER.

Chairman Lasker, of the United tates Shipping Board, accompanied his directors of operations, visited the huge leviathan at her New ork pier last week. It was preliminry to a discussion by the board of e possibility of restoring the liner trade between Europe and Amerca. Lasker wanted to see for himself just what the "insurmountable" stacles were.

It is not only wasteful to have this ge liner slowly rotting in idleness; is a positive disgrace in a time ien all available ships are needed the trans-Atlantic route. The ime can be divided between the obuctionist Hearst, and the lethargic cials who failed to make a rea ort to get this "queen of the seas" o commission again.

Mr. Lasker shows a new, a vigor s spirit. He is not the sort of n to take anything for granted, or give up without a fight. And—t is rewarding fighters.—Lanter New Era.

THE CHILDREN'S BUREAU.

enator Reed, of Missouri, wasted ood deal of breath in two hours a half in his diatribe against the ldren's Bureau. He discovers it is composed of "misses who, ing missed out on marriage, have business becoming mistresses of r people's children.

he Senator overlooks the faithful successful service in our public private schools of a host of unried women, some of whom have assured by male boards of edun that if they married they ld lose thier positions. He overs the devotion of the maiden in many a household, who gives, mpensated, a service of devotion as no hireling could be found estow.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CHARM IN OLD GRAVEYARDS

Pleasant Spots Where One May Meditate on the Fleeting Procession of Life.

There is a charm about old graveyards. They are to us, says the Springfield Republican, what mellow autumn afternoons cannot express. They are deserted old houses, haunted by former owners. In them is the reminder of other days that makes up the atmosphere of old theaters where many famous Hamlets and Lady Teazles have trod the boards. There one can follow "the hoary chronicle of the ages" back to the beginning of time.

There are little graveyards by the sea with waving grasses and wild cinnamon pinks where sea captains are laid to rest. There are others shut off from the business section of large cities by gates that close at sundown, where the founders of the city find peace after their labors. Into these secluded spots pert Twentieth-century stenographers go to eat their noonday lunch and discuss their new hats and new beaux, with only an occasional one more imaginative than her friends to give a thought to the long dead and ponder on the fleeting procession of life. There are still other graveyards with clipped hedges and formal garden plots, reminiscent of the clipped and patterned lives that have been carefully laid away there to rest. Hedged in by convention all their lives and shadowed by express—hedges and cypress are their for after death.

However graveyards differ, they are all a friendly resting place for the idle wanderer or the vagabond poet. A pleasant picture that of young Walter Pater going to the graveyard and singing Greek songs to the birds there. Pleasant, too, the picture of Thomas Gray writing his elegy in a country churchyard.

Beware, however, the modern graveyard. Where granite stands up glistening in the sun, where flowers are fresh on new-made graves, and funeral processions may be met, is not the place to wander in. There grief is too near and too new. Choose a God's acre where the grass is overgrown, where weeping willows and grimacing cherubs decorate the stones, and where the last line of the epitaph is sunk into the ground. Every graveyard has at least it old part, mellowed by the passing of time.

Probably Fastest Running Animal.

One of the fastest as well as one of the most interesting animals known is the cheetah, the hunting leopard of India. These animals, on account of the great speed which they attain, are tamed by the Indians and trained to hunt antelopes. While the hunted antelope, which can clear a 10-foot fence without apparent effort at a single leap, is at the height of a burst of frightened speed the cheetahs are released. They stretch along the ground, gaining on the antelopes every second, and finally bring them down with a well-timed bound which pipes the fangs of the cheetah in the throat of the quarry. The hunters at once cut the throat of the antelope, and the cheetah drinks the blood. Next the thigh of the antelope is slit open and the cheetah tears away a small portion of the game he has captured. This is his reward. His muzzle is replaced, and he is placed in his cage until the next hunt.

While the cheetah is known as a leopard, he is not a true feline. He has the arching body of a greyhound and the feet of a dog, while his head is distinctly that of a cat. The animal is rarely seen in the public zoological collections for the reason that he soon dies because of the lack of exercise.

Know Little of Their City.

Many of the lifelong residents of New York city know little of the city's rapidly expanding transportation system, says the New York Sun. They are acquainted with those minor sections they use daily, but if they have occasion to travel to unaccustomed quarters they are as puzzled as the stranger. It is usually the newcomer, the resident of a few months or years, who even pretends to know the subways or the streets of any considerable section of the town.

American Progress.

American progress is absolutely dependent upon electricity, according to Henry D. Shute, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric company, who declares that "It is no exaggeration to say that America has now become absolutely dependent upon electricity for her further progress, and in the future hardly a wheel will turn without electricity behind it."

BETULA DOINGS.

Betula, July 22.—Merwin Grinolds, 12 years old, landed a beautiful "German brown" fish measuring 23 inches and tipping the scales at 3 pounds, 14 ounces. To say he was proud of his catch is putting it mild. The fish certainly was a beauty and was viewed by many. Merwin is a natural born fisherman and he can lure the beauties from their nooks if anybody can. No game in sight ever escapes his view.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Wilcox and son, Merle, of Crosby, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilcox, of Coudersport, visited at the home of M. W. Grinolds, at Betula, Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Mart Grinolds and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Bert Herzog Saturday evening.

Simple Russian Toys.

The toys of Russia, speaking generally, are simple, often roughly fashioned and unostentatious, like the muzhik himself. Dolls, of course, form an important and favorite group. In the rural districts they are generally of wood. In the wide agricultural districts of central Russia the little ones sometimes have dolls made of straws tied at the wrists, neck, and waist. In the forest regions dolls are sometimes made of moss, pine cones and birch bark. After dolls, the favorite objects seem to be horses, women, with raiment carved in relief and painted, and birds. Figures of men are less frequent, and when found are generally in company with their friend, the horse.

How to Recognize Real Mahogany.

You buy a "mahogany" table, pay a good price for it, and then begin to wonder whether it is made of real mahogany. Red gum can be made to look so much like mahogany and Circassian walnut that it is often sold for one or the other of these woods. How can you tell the difference between the false and the true? By looking at the cross-grain, says Popular Science Monthly. If you can see the pores with the naked eye, then you will know that all is well. If you can't see the pores without the aid of magnifying-glass, then you will know that you are in the presence of red

Protecting National Forests.

Lightning often strikes more than once—even frequently—in the same place or vicinity and experts of the United States Agricultural department are considering the possibility of mapping the lightning zones in the national forests, and for such zones providing fire lines, regulating grazing, and cleaning out of dead trees with fire-protective measures. It is believed that the mapping would show these zones closely related to certain types of topography and more or less localized sections of many forests. The importance of the matter is shown by the fact that lightning causes 30 per cent of the national forest fires, and in the very unusual season of 1920 set over half of the 5,073 fires.

She Didn't Forget.

A few years ago a Hoosier newspaper man added to the staff of his paper a young woman who seemed to have great promise in feature work. He wrote a little skit about her which read: "Every one who reads her work will feel sure that she has started on a successful career as an author." But someone in the composing room made it "amateur" instead of author.

Of course, he was profuse in his apologies, and the girl seemed to be paified. But he knows now she didn't forget, for the other day he received her wedding announcement, and in it was a note reading: "Again I have started on an amateurish career."

Says Women Take More Chances.

"Women are more reckless than men when it comes to dodging traffic," said a policeman at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue, New York. "Since we got the new street beacons, you know, it's our job to hold back people until the flow of vehicles is through on the street and starts on the avenue. The women are worse than men at darting in front of motors and street cars and trying to get across despite orders. The men are pretty easy to handle under the new system, but the women take all the joy out of our jobs."—New York Sun.

Right Payment.

Nine-year-old Charles carried letters from the lawyer next door to his best girl. Every time he took one the lawyer gave him a dime. But one day he decided to reward him a little better. He started to fish two dimes out of his pocket. "I 'guess these letters are about worth 20 cents," he remarked facetiously.

"Yes, sir," Charles agreed, soberly, "that's what I get—a dime from you and one from her."

But he didn't know what there was about his speech to make the fellow grin so happily.

Pa Gets Funny.

"Pa, what does the expression 'to go up in smoke' mean?"

"It refers to an aviator making an ascent in Pittsburgh, my son."

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS NOTES

(By Adjutant Paul Hallstrom.)

"Get a buddy" is the slogan of the campaign for new members. Every American Legion post in the country is out for new members. The success of this drive in this state is shown by the fact that during the past month Pennsylvania passed Illinois in total membership, and therefore stands second in this respect among the states. New York has 67,613; Pennsylvania has 55,541, and Illinois 53,171.

The national commander, having accepted an invitation from France to have an official party of American Legion members visit that country, would like to hear from anyone who would like to go. The trip will cost about $850, to be defrayed by the members. The party will sail August 3, and will be feted by the French people.

Do all you can to boost the Women's Auxiliary.

Every member will be interested in the fact that the Pennsylvania state convention will be held in Pittsburgh September 23, 24 and 25. At the same time in Jamestown, N. Y., the New York convention will take place. Commander Emery, succeeding Commander Galbraith, will attend both conventions.

Ten delegates will be sent to the McKean county convention in August. They will be chosen at the next meeting.

The Philadelphia quartermaster has been ordered to discontinue the issuance of uniforms and equipment to discharged solders unless application was made prior to June 1.

A silver service bar will be award to each post which is represented at the coming national convention at Kansas City by its colors.

The American Legion Weekly asks its readers to do their share to get more advertsing for the publication.

Your presence is requested at the next meeting.

CHIEF BURDETTE RESPLESDENT IN HIS NEW GLAD COSTUME

chief made an imposing figure. This he did so that his appearance and uniform might be thoroughly commented upon, criticized and digested in the course of one evening.

A few disagreeable, and perhaps envious, persons loudly wished to know, "Where did you get that hat," but otherwise there was no rowdyism or disorder.

Most everyone by this time has gotten accustomed to the improvement in the chief's make-up. In fact, he does look younger and gayer, even.

Now, as to the rumors that the new uniform stirred up. You see, upon the vest of the new uniform, just outside of where the chief's heart ought to be, there is a patch. There is a great deal of conjecture attached to that patch.

The most serious rumor concerning it is that Chief Burdette is walking around our streets camouflaged in a dead man's cothing. Now that we've told you, we might as well continue. Someone whispered to us that a friend of the chief's was an officer in a nearby city. That friend was shot through the heart by a man he was about to arrest. Therefore, the chief here bought the dead ma's uniform and is sporting it in our midst. Ghastly thing, isn't it?

And there are other things, too, but you'd better ask the chief about them.

But, all in all, the uniform does make the chief better looking, even though his white cap does take away from his usual "low visibility."

S.HOWED HIM HOW

Mr. Brown Learned Something From His Better Half.

Of Course Her Knowledge Was Not Scientific but the Cork Came Out of That Bottle.

Brown had been puttering around in the bathroom for a half hour, while Mrs. Brown grew more and more nervous. From experience she knew that trouble was brewing when her lord and master busied himself about the house, and she was aware that he was not taking a bath in the middle of a Sunday morning. Presently there came a crash of glass falling into the porcelain tub, and Mrs. Brown was glad that the children had not yet returned from Sunday school.

"What is the matter? Can I help you, dear?" Mrs. Brown called brightly. For reply Brown came into the living room and stared at his better half with an expression in which patient suffering, rage, mockery and suspicion were nicely blended. In his hand, says the New York Sun, he held a bottle, empty, except for a cork that had been pushed inside.

"No, you cannot help me," he declared bitterly. "When did you ever help me? To satisfy your inordinate curiosity I will say that I am getting the cork out of this bottle, and, having the innate masculine qualities of determination and inventiveness, I will accomplish this seemingly impossible task, and your little plan to annoy me will fall through. Of course I know that you deliberately pushed the cork down into this bottle, though how you guessed that I would wish to use this particular flask I haven't yet taken the trouble to figure out."

"Probably your idea is entirely scientific and all right," she soothed, as she applied a cooling lotion to the thumb and finger that had incautiously grasped the hot bottle, "but, after all, it would be so much simpler to—"

"Oh, I suppose you are going to pretend that you could get that cork out without even trying," Brown snarled. "Well, let me see you do it!"

"Why, of course if you wish me to, dear," Mrs. Brown responded sweetly. She took a small but strong cord, tied a large knot in the end, dropped the knot into the bottle, turned the bottle upside down, and shook it a little until the cork jogged down in to the neck, the knot in the cord being behind the cork. Then she gave the cord a strong, steady pull, and the cork came out with a plop! "It is really easy, you see, dear," she said mildly.

THE LAKE ROUTE FOR YOUR VACATION TRIP.

Lake Erie has long been noted for its fleet of magnificent passenger steamers. The most recent addition to this fleet is the great ship "Seeandbee," the largest and most costly passenger steamer on inland waters of the world. This great ship, with her sister ship, steamer "City of Buffalo," plys daily between Cleveland and Buffalo, so that you may board steamer at either city any evening at 9:00, enjoy a night of refreshing sleep and arrive at destination following morning at 7:30.

In addition to the night trips, the Saturday daylight trips are proving very attractive to many travelers. Steamer "City of Buffalo" leaves new pier, foot of E. 9th street, every Saturday during the summer season at 9:00 a. m., arriving in Buffalo at 7:00 evening of same day.

From Buffalo, the great ship "Seeandbee" leaves wharves at South Michigan avenue bridge every Saturday during the summer season at 9:00 a. m., arriving at Cleveland 7:00 evening of same day.

ATE HIMSELF OUT OF THE ARMY.

Sunbury, Pa., July 23.—Uncle Sam's army's champion eater returned to Sunbury today with an honorable discharge, having eaten himself out of a job.

Samuel Diffy, of Hartleton, Union county, enlisted at a Sunbury recruiting station eight months ago and was sent to Camp Jackson, S. C.

Samuel was under command of a corporal as an escort, who had orders to be sure and get him home safely. The corporal asserted Sam's middle name was "Eat." "Why, he ate the potatoes, skins and all. Two loaves of bread and a half dozen helpings of meat were his single meal capacity and he cried all night the other night when he couldn't have a meal at taps." That settled it. Sam got his discharge and I was sent home to see that he got here safely."

FARMERS SAVE DEER FROM PACK OF DOGS.

Olean, July 23.—Taking refuge in a farmyard at Red Branch, near here, a young fawn was saved by farmers from a pack of dogs pursuing her. The deer was driven out of the foothills by the dogs, it is believed.

Farmers left the hayfields and kept the canines at bay and then drove them away. The deer remained in a corner of the yard for a time and then ran for the hills.

PORT ALLEGANY SOLDIER'S BODY ARRIVES HOME

Port Allegany, July 21.—The body of Collins Thomas, who was killed in France during the World War, was brough here this morning and was taken to the home of his uncle, Charles Thomas, on the Brooklynside. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Grimes Church. A military funeral was held with Frank Burt Post, American Legion, in charge.

Collins Thomas was born in Port Allegany about twenty-three years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thomas. At the time of the World War he entered the U. S. Army, being a member of Company F, 112th Infantry. He was killed in action in France on July 25, 1918.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thomas, and three sisters, Mrs. Harvey Perry of Smethport, Mavis and Rachel.

SENATOR FRANCE IN RUSSIA.

Senator France, of Maryland, who went abroad to study trade conditions in Russia, likewise the political situation, has succeeded in getting into Moscow. Reports are that he has had conferences with the Communist officials and been lodged in a suite of a private house and been provided with all the luxuries that the land can afford. And it can afford them only to the ruling gang of dictators and their particular guests.

We dare predict that Senator France will come back to Washington with the greatest amount of useless misinformation that was ever stacked in the head of a man from Adara down, to—well, say Senator France. He will see only what he is permitted to see. He will be told only what the wreckers of Russia wish him to learn.

And he will learn mostly what is not so.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

NAUGHTY! NAUGHTY! A BARREL NEEDED

Olean, July 21.—"We don't mind their looking at us, chief, but some of them are going too far," protested young women of the city to Police Chief John C. Dempsey, reporting rude actions of a number of young men who gathered about the girls' swimming hole in Olean creek.

"You see, chief," explained one, "it's a novelty to see girls in bathing suits in the heart of Olean. We are not afraid to show ourselves in our swimming costumes, but we do object to fellows standing around and making remarks about nature's gifts and sneaking in our dressing tent and tying our garments in knots."

The chief promised police protection to the girls. Some of the young women's garments were ruined by knots, and the owners found it necessary to trip through the streets in bathing suits.

Need of Friendship.

He that can only be useful on great occasions may die without exercising his abilities and stand a helpless spectator of a thousand vexations which fret away happiness and which nothing is required to remove but a little dexterity of conduct and readiness of expedients. No degree of knowledge attainable by man is able to set him above the want of hourly assistance; or to extinguish the desire of fond endearments and tender officiousness; and therefore no one should think it unnecessary to leave those arts by which friendship is gained. Kindness is preserved by constant reciprocation of benefits and interchange of pleasures; but such benefits can only be bestowed as others are capable to receive, and such pleasures imparted as others are qualified to enjoy.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

Fire Detector.

There has recently been introduced a compact fire detector which may be installed anywhere in conjunction with a simple electric bell and a few dry cells. The device is a highly sensitive automatic fire detector which quickly acts when the temperature rises above the ordinary. It is adjustable, can be tested, is so simple that it cannot get out of order, and can be installed by anyone. The detector may be installed in the cellar of the private house, the attic, the kitchen and elsewhere, either in single or multiple arrangement, so as to give warning of fire at the moment such fire breaks out. Again, it may be installed in the office, shop, factory or store.—Scientific American.

PURITANS AT FOOLISH FIGHT

Stern Old Men of Long Ago Had Silly Idea They Could Prevail Against Dame Fashion.

Dress reformers of the present day, who deplore the abbreviated skirt and peek-a-boo waist, may be astounded to learn that even in the good old puritan times the lure of Dame Fashion had a bewitching effect on the young men and maidens.

Researches into the ancient laws of the Massachusetts Bay colony have revealed that the fathers had their own troubles with their offspring, who organized a snappy style when they saw it.

In 1634, just four years after the arrival of Governor Winthrop's ships, the apparel question had become so pressing that the lawmakers tried their hands as fashion molders.

Here is the statute placed on the books in its original wording:

"The Court, takeing into consideration the greate, superfluous and unnecessary expences occasioned by reason of some newe and immodest fashions, as also the ordinary wearing of silver, golde and silke laces, girdles, hat bands, etc., hath therefore ordered that no person, either man or woman, shall hereafter make or buy apparell, either woolen, silke or lynnen, with any lace on it, silver, golde silke or threed, under the penalty of the forfeiture of such clothes.

"Provided, and it is the meaning of this court that men and women shall have liberty to weare out such apparell as they are nowe provided of, except the immoderate greate sleeves, slashed apparell, immoderate greate ryales, long wings, etc.

"This order to take place a fortnight after the publishing thereof."

Great Hotel Is Uncompleted.

If our civilization passes, Martians of the future who explore the site of Twentieth century London will wonder at the steel skeleton of frames and girders, seven stories high that rises above Piccadilly.

The structure was started seven years ago. It was intended to be the Park Lane hotel and would have been one of the most elegant and best situated hotels of England. But since the outbreak of the war not a stroke of work has been done on the structure. Today it stands just as it stood when the last workman left it in 1914.

The year 1921, with tight money, labor troubles and high costs, is not a good time to start building expensive hotels. No buyers are in sight, and it is improbable that any will appear.

Chickens Singed With Acetylene.

One of the most recent uses for acetylene is for singeing chickens. It is said that the acetylene flame, properly used, performs this operation in a small fraction of the time usually required, that it removes the last vestige of feathers from the fowl, and that the burning off is accomplished without scorching the skin or heating the delicate flesh.

This is no more remarkable than the use of acetylene in removing paint from canvas, which is done without even the slightest injury to the fabric.—Popular Science Monthly.

Modernness of the Ancients.

We have only to turn back the pages of history to discover that the ancients had some very modern notions.

Mr. E. W. Hulme pointed out before the Newcomen society, recently organized in England, to study the history of engineering and technology, that in the great Palace of the Two Axes in Crete there was a system of water-carried sewage and terra cotta socketed drain pipes that could not be paralleled in Europe prior to the Eighteenth century.—Popular Science Monthly.

OF ODD DESIGN

Timepieces of Long Ago Were Masterpieces of Art.

Mary Queen of Scots Had a Collection of Watches of Peculiar and Grewsome Shape.

The fragile watch of dainty pattern and design which today is a favorite among women is in striking contrast to some of the watches which were famous centuries ago.

Many of these were of enormous size and of the most ornate design, remarks a writer in the Dearborn Independent.

Mary Queen of Scots was the possessor of a death's head watch which was of silver gilt and most elaborately ornamented. The forehead of the skull bore the symbols of death, the scythe and hourglass placed between a palace and a cottage to show the impartiality of the grim destroyer. At the back of the skull was Time, destroying all things, and at the top of the head, scenes of the Garden of Eden and the crucifixion. The watch was opened by reversing the skull, placing the upper part of it in the hollow of the hand and lifting the jaw by the hinge, this part being enriched by engraved representations of the holy trinity, angels and shepherds with their flocks. The works of the watch formed the brains of the skull and were within a silver envelope which acted as a musically-toned bell, while the dial plate was in the place of the palate. The curious work of art was made at Blois and, at her death, was bequeathed by Mary Queen of Scots to her maid of honor Mary Seton, in 1587. It afterward came into the possession of Sir John Dick Lauder.

Another skull watch which once belonged to Mary Queen of Scots by its inscription and date, 1560, shows that Francis II of France presented it to his young wife many years before watches were supposed to have been brought to England from Germany.

Queen Mary was evidently a collector of watches of unique design. She is said to have possessed one in a case of crystal, shaped like a coffin, and another made at Rouen, in which a thread of carnet supplied the place of a chain.

Some of the early watches were so small as to be set in the head of walking sticks, the clasp of bracelets, or in pendants, and there is a record of a striking watch which was mounted in a ring, in the year 1542.

At the Strawberry Hill sale Queen Victoria purchased a little clock of brass gilt, which had been presented to Anne Boleyn by Henry VIII, upon their marriage in 1532. It is richly chased and engraved and is still at Windsor castle.

The clock placed in one of the towers at the palace at Hampton court in 1551 is said to be the oldest English-made clock extant. When in action it shows the motions of several of the planets. The dial and several of the wheels attached to the back of the dial still remain.

Carrier Pigeon's Swift Flight.

A carrier pigeon, the record of which has been used for the purpose of comparison with the performance of man on the 220-yard course, was the property of A. E. Harman. The race took place at Washington, where this sport is very frequently indulged in. The record of this particular flight is preserved in the records in the Museum of Natural History, and was taken from the Washington Star of September 17, 1901. According to the best authorities available, the record made by Mr. Harman's pigeon has never been equaled, although it was established almost two decades ago.

On this occasion the race was between about 20 birds. The pigeon of Mr. Harman came in first, and his best time was 1,732 yards for the first minute of flight, which means 7 463-891 seconds for 220 yards.

So of the four official records it will be noted that while a runner has made his 220-yards in 20 4-5 seconds, the carrier pigeon is almost three times as fast.

The Army of the Disabled.

The international labor bureau at Geneva has prepared statistics showing the number of men disabled during the great war. France leads the list with 1,500,000 soldiers crippled or otherwise permanently injured; Germany runs a close second with 1,400,000. Allowing for the smaller population of France, this means that French industry must support a heavier burden of the incapacitated than German. Great Britain contributes 1,170,000 to the army of disabled; Italy, 570,000; the United States, 200,000; Czecho-Slovakia, 175,000; Jugo-Slavia, 160,000; Poland, 150,000; Canada, 88,000; Roumania, 84,000; Belgium, 40,000. Except for Germany and parts of the old Austria-Hungary, which are now allied states, the statistics of former enemy countries are lacking. Russia disability statistics are also wanting. But even without these the army of disabled reaches the impressive and terrible total of more than 5,500,000.—From the Independent (N. Y.).

Victim of Sympathy.

"Why are you so frequently discontented?"

"I dunno," replied Farmer Corntossel; "mebbe I wouldn't be if all the politicians I met didn't seem to think it was a part of their regular business to sympathize with me about something."
